Hogs and Heroes (<https://hogsheroesfoundation.com/>), a nonprofit that raises funds for military, police, firefighters and emergency responders, recently donated $300 to the Ocean View Police Department.

The money will help the department purchase light kits for its bicycle safety program. Since the program started in 2006, the department has installed more than 130 light kits and provided helmets for students who use bicycles as their main transportation in the Cape Region.

"We started a nighttime bike safety checkpoint due to the fact a lot of these students are riding late at night leaving jobs," said Ocean View Police Department Chief Ken McLaughlin. "Our officers were buying light kits with their own money to install on these bikes.”

Hogs and Heroes was founded in 2008 and has chapters in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, North Carolina, Virginia and New Jersey. For more about the organization, go to hogsheroesfoundation.com (<https://hogsheroesfoundation.com/>).

RE: Sergeant Sidney Ballentine

Dear Chief McLaughlin:

I am an ordinary citizen writing to express my appreciation and gratitude for the assistance of Sergeant Sidney Ballentine in locating my friend, Pete Alt. Not being able to contact him after several days, I turned to the Ocean View Police Department and was introduced to Sgt Ballentine. Because of his tenacity, concern and unyielding help, Pete was found in another state being cared for by his daughter.

I am aware that everyday the Ocean View Police Department sees the best and the worst of our community yet is always available to assist at every turn and under many different circumstances. From my personal experience, Sgt Ballentine performs a difficult job under difficult circumstances in a truly professional, caring manner, exemplifying how fortunate we all are to have him on your staff and responsible in part for our safety.

Please thank him on my behalf and concurrently, I would like to extend my appreciation to you as well, Chief McLaughlin for always putting Ocean View citizens first.

Respectfully,

Joe Keefer
