3. Mt Parnassus Project Update

   Craig reported that the State is moving forward with the tower. He expects that a site walk will occur mid December and construction will commence in January. The new neighbor is a radio buff and has no problem with its being so close. Discussion continued concerning the available frequencies. David met with George, concerns remain concerning frequency patterns, power limits and how service might be improved. The need for omnidirectional frequencies was discussed as well as a simulcast system. Potential sites for such a system were reviewed. We’re coming into the game late; rules are tougher and options fewer. Partnering was discussed. Valley Shore opportunities remain an issue. In any case the Mt Parnassus site is not fully adequate.
We now need to acquire a sense of where we are. David will meet with Matt and Joe and David will continue to move forward.

Joe raised the question of certain frequencies over which David has control and asked if they might help us. David indicated that they were no longer being actively used and might be part of an answer for us.

The need for an extension on the proposed tower (of 60 feet) was discussed. Without the extension the tower is more limited in its usefulness. The question of who should install the extension, and pay for it, was raised. Regardless of who pays the State will control its usage.
